DEPARTMENT OF PANCHAKARMA

OPD NO 7

Panchakarma: The Ultimate Detoxification Therapy

Panchakarma is a traditional Ayurveda therapy designed to detoxify, rejuvenate, and restore the body's natural balance. It is a holistic healing process that eliminates toxins (Ama) and strengthens the immune system while promoting overall well-being.

The word "Panchakarma" means "Five Actions" in Sanskrit, referring to the five therapeutic procedures used to cleanse the body of accumulated toxins. These therapies help to restore the balance of the three dosha-Vata, Pitta, and Kapha leading to improved health and vitality.

The Five Therapies of Panchakarma

1. Vamana (Therapeutic Emesis):

Induced vomiting to expel excess Kapha dosha.

Effective for respiratory issues, allergies, and skin disorders.

2. Virechana (Purgation Therapy):

Herbal laxatives are used to cleanse excess Pitta dosha from the intestines.

Beneficial for liver disorders, digestive issues, and skin diseases.

3. Basti (Medicated Enema Therapy):

Herbal decoctions and oils are administered through the rectum. Also called as ARDHA-CHIKITSA in Ayurveda.

Helps with chronic constipation, arthritis, and neurological disorders.

4. Nasya (Nasal Detoxification Therapy):

Herbal oils or powders are administered through the nose.

Treats sinus congestion, migraines, and respiratory issues.

5. Raktamokshana (Blood letting Therapy):

Removes toxins from the blood using leech therapy or controlled bloodletting.

Useful for skin diseases, hypertension, and chronic inflammation
